

REPORT U.S. AND TURKEY WILL SEEK TREATY

Paris Dispatch Asserts Pre-

TURKEY STANDS FIRM

Delegates Insist Upon Complete Restoration of Independence

(By the Associated Press.)
Paris, Nov. 27.—Preparations of a separate treaty between Turkey and the United States is under consideration at Lausanne, says a dispatch to the Temps.
The correspondent suggests that this perhaps was the subject of yesterday's long convention between Richard Washburn Child and Ismet Pasha.

TURKS ADAMANT

(By the Associated Press.)
Lausanne, Nov. 27.—Turkish delegates to the Near East conference today prepared the way for Turkey's fight for abandonment of the special extra territorial privileges enjoyed by foreigners, by distributing copies of the famous "national pact." This convention adopted by the Turkish national assembly embodies the Ottoman demands at Lausanne.
Article VI of this pact insists that Turkey's complete independence is necessary for the country's national development and that every judicial and financial restriction imposed from without, will be opposed.

The Lausanne conference is proving a good second to Versailles.
In the last number of petitions received from people and races demanding their recognition and independence.

The arrival of the advance guard of Russians headed by M. Rakow-sky, president of the Ukraine republic, has given new zest to the conference deliberations. On his arrival last night M. Rakowsky said that the Ukraine stood "cleanly behind Turkey in all she may ask for in open or neutral waterways, which means so much to southern Russia."

The Russian delegation to the Near East conference is not a communication of the president of the conference today demanding the admission of the Russian representatives for the discussion of all questions on the agenda so that a durable peace might be assigned.

FEATURE U. S. DEMAND

(By the Associated Press.)
London, Nov. 27.—The statement of Ambassador Child at Lausanne last Saturday is the outstanding feature of the London morning newspapers, which have on Sunday issues, take the first opportunity today to discuss what some term
"dramatic American intervention"
and "the American bombshell."

Although some regard the Amba-sador's pronouncement as intended to give notice to an American determination to have a share in the Mosul oil fields, this view is not universally put forth and several influential papers treat Mr. Child's declaration as timely and welcome.

The Times says: "The statement is of wider importance than anything yet settled at Lausanne. It contains no new doctrine but reaffirms an old doctrine at a moment which was being carefully chosen."

It suggests Americans do not intend to allow anything to happen without protest, which would make more difficult the maintenance of American rights when they come to make their own treaty with Turkey.

The Daily Mail believes there is no difference between the views of the British and American governments respecting the quality of opportunities in the Near East.

Mr. Child's speech is welcomed by the West Minister Gazette, "as at least the beginning of a recognition that the United States cannot wholly disinterested herself from European problems."

Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary today authorized an official statement to the press that England supports the American
"open door" policy in Turkey, and regards the San Remo agreement for division of the Mosul oil district as null and void.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST SHORTER

The delinquent tax list of Burleigh county is approximately one-fifth shorter than last year, County Auditor Frank Johnson said today. A distinct improvement in payment of taxes is shown in the cash receipts and it is expected that the property offered on tax sale this year will be a third less than a year ago.

Dakota single comb white leghorn poultry show will be held here January 22-25. This means, he says,

REICHSTAG VOTES APPROVAL

Berlin, Nov. 25.—The Reichstag today voted its approval of the motion made by the German Democrats endorsing the governments declaration of policy. All the parties voted for the motion with the exception of the communists and three members of the anti-semitic party, who cast their votes against approval.

SECOND REEL IN TIERNAN MARITAL DRAMA BEGINS WHEN WIFE NO. 2 LEAVES HIM

(By the Associated Press.)
Chicago, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Blanche Hawn Rash Brimmer, second wife of John P. Tiernan, former professor of law at the Notre Dame University, possesses a marital status at least as tangled as that of her husband for a day, according to revelations she made here before returning to Marshalltown, Iowa where she planned to set about today learning whether she was entitled legally to accept Mr. Tiernan in their Crown Point, Ind., ceremony on Saturday.

Mrs. Brimmer was left by Professor Tiernan with the injunction to "go and redeem yourself in my eyes," replying a tearful "oh, I will, dear John."

Those expressions came after Professor Tiernan and Mrs. Brimmer were informed their marriage had been rendered illegal by annulment of Professor Tiernan's divorce from Mrs. Augusta Tiernan at South Bend, Ind., and her own prior marital status possibly was beclouded. When she was 16 years old, eight years ago, she eloped with Floyd L. Rash, Marshalltown baker, from the home of her parents, the Rev. and Mrs.
Charles H. Hawn, then of Aredale, Iowa and now of Hansell, Iowa; she said. Four days after receiving a notice that Rash had sued for divorce, she said, she married Arthur H. Brimmer at Oskaloosa, Iowa, only to learn still later that Rash had not obtained a final decree when she married Brimmer. Nothing was done about the matter, she said, but she and Brimmer came to Chicago where she became a check girl in a Chicago restaurant. While here she learned that Brimmer then was being sued for divorce by an earlier wife, whereupon she returned home, but rejoined Brimmer later at Kansas City, Mo. He disappeared there, she said, and his brother informed her Brimmer was dead.

Tiernan Worried
"Is that all the proof of freedom
you had when you married me?"

CLAIMS HE HAS SOLVED GRAVITATION

Cause Ascribed by Capt See
To Invisible Ether
Waves

DEMONSTRATES THEORY

U. S. Astronomer Uses Magnets in Developing Newton's Law

(By the Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Nov. 27.—Claim to discovery of the cause of gravitation
something that Sir Isaac Newton, discoverer of the law of gravitation could not find—is made by an American naval officer, Captain T. J. J.
See, government astronomer at the Mare Island navy yard near here.

Captain See announced his discovery in a lecture before the California Academy of Science.

Discovery by Captain See of the cause of magnetism, also announced in the lecture, led to the finding of a definite connection between magnetism and gravity. Both, he said, are due to invisible ether waves traveling across the heavenly spaces with the speed of light.

For forty years Captain See has been doing research work in magnetism and gravity.

The astronomer said his theory is a distinct development on Newton's law of gravitation. Magnetism, he explained, is a million times more powerful than the corresponding force of gravitation.

Captain See demonstrated during his address that a small magnet, when suspended by a thread near a large one, is pulled bodily toward the nearest pole of the large magnet. Yet he showed while the nearer pole has the greater power, the remoter power of the large magnet actually pulls back on the opposite end of a magnet needle suspended by a thread at its center. The result is to make the lines of force tension lines stretched like taut ropes.

At the equator, therefore, the two poles of the earth's magnetism being equally distant, attract equally in opposite directions. But at the poles, the needle stands on end and is pulled downward bodily by the magnetic force.

By an extension of the theory of the earth's magnetism by Gauss, celebrated German mathematician, in 1838, Captain See draws two conclusions: 1.—That magnetism is due to the waves, the rotary motion of the other particles being about the lines of force, which is also confirmed by Faraday's experiment of the magnetic rotation of a beam of polarized light, 1845.

2.—As magnetism as connected with gravitation by See's mathematical law of 1922, it follows that gravitation also is due to waves like those of magnetism.

County officials of Wells county and others also signed similar petitions. Mr. Janonius is a former classmate and friend of Governor Nestos. Attorneys of Bismarck mentioned for the position include C. L. Young, E. B. Hyland and J. A. Hyland. John Williams of Washburn also has been mentioned in this connection.

ELSIE SALISBURY FACES TRIAL FOR MURDER

Montevideo, Minn., Nov. 27.—Elsie Salisbury came back to Montevideo today to stand trial for the slaying of Oscar Erickson, a railroad accountant in the office where she was a stenographer. She came in quietly, accompanied by her counsel, and kept in comparative seclusion today as plans went forward for her appearance in district court here tomorrow, at the expiration of her bail period. Miss Salisbury, who has been out on $20,000 bail since early in July, has resided in Minneapolis recently, preparing herself for the ordeal of battling against a life sentence in the state penitentiary. County Attorney A. E. Kief of Chippewa county, announced today that upon her appearance before Judge G. E. Quale tomorrow he would move for trial December 4. The defense, it is understood, has sought even longer delay, but the attitude it will take tomorrow was not disclosed. When Miss Salisbury appears in court tomorrow, her bailsmen will be released, and she will be remanded to the custody of the county sheriff to await trial.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE.
Ordered from home by his millionaire father, the lumber king of the Northwest, because he had dared to fall in love with a girl who lived in one of the poorest shacks along the river. That was the situation which confronted Donald McKaye, when he confessed to marry "Nan of the Sawdust Pile." Pride of blood arose in Hector McKaye, known far and wide as "The Laird," and when his son refused to part with Nan the older McKaye ordered Donald never to cross the threshold of his home again until he had agreed to give up all thoughts of the girl. Donald refused. Then began a strange series of adventures, which culminated finally in the victory of love despite all opposition. This is the story of "Kindred of the Dust," a First National attraction produced by Saul A. Walsh from the story by Peter B. Kyne, showing at the Eltinge theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

CAPITOL.
What is regarded as one of the best cast screen plays of the year is the forthcoming Selznick Special, "A Man's Home," which today will begin a two-day engagement at the Capitol theater. In addition to its notable cast, "A Man's Home" is said to tell an unusually strong dramatic story, written by Anna Steese Richardson and Edmund Breese, and the picture has had the advantage of the directorial genius of Ralph Ince, who personally supervised the filming of the play. The cast for the production was selected from the wide field that only Broadway can present to the casting director of a photoplay. The characters were all outlined and studied with a view to fitting the individual player to the essential parts—and there were seven roles that demanded most intelligent interpretation in order that the story might be visualized efficiently. When the cast was completed it was found that there was a very desirable blend of both talent and "names" in the assemblage—names that are known to "fans" the country over. Harry T. Morey, who has been a screen star for years, and Kathryn Williams, one of the best known women in pictures, interpret the leading roles. Matt Moore and Fairs Binney contribute the love interest, while Grace allVentine and Roland Bottomley are more adventures than "villains" in providing a counter-motive that is said to invest the plot with its "surprise" angles. Margaret Sidden plays the role of an old-fashioned mother who finds herself bewildered in the swirl of events that engulf her family.

Bristol, Tenn., Nov. 27.—Authorities continued their investigation here today for the bodies of five men and given a hearing on the charge of murder in connection with the finding of five charred bodies, believed to have been slain and the house in which they were set afire here early yesterday. Relatives of James W. Smith, 50, a grocer, his wife, their two-year-old daughter, Mrs. Delma Burckfield, wife of the man being held, and their son, Charles, 13, were today making final funeral arrangements for the slain, whose bodies were found by firemen after flames had been extinguished in the Smith home. Officers say they evidently had been beaten to death with an axe and the house set afire to hide any trace of the crime. While the police claimed when they captured Burckfield blood stains were found on his shirt and trousers, he denied any connection with the alleged crime. Burckfield and his wife were separated. They said he called to chase made the fire to his after losing time that he contemplated setting a fire.

CONCILIATION LAW IS HELD TO BE VALID

Supreme Court Acts on Measure which Provided New Court Procedure

North Dakota's conciliation board law was held valid by the supreme court, in a decision handed down late Saturday in a test case involving local people.

In the case brought before the court, refusal to pay a note of $50 was defended on the ground that the plaintiff had not attempted to settle the matter before a conciliator, and the court upholds the defense.

The legislature of 1921 created county boards of conciliation, and provided that "no process shall be issued in commencement of a civil suit by any justice of the peace or by any other trial court unless the moving party shall file in court, a certificate of conciliator showing that an attempt has been made to effect a settlement of the claims and that such attempt has failed; but the foregoing shall not apply to action known as provisional or remedies, actions involving title to or possession of real estate and suits involving over $200. Provided, however, that any district judge in chambers may in a particular instance, on a proper showing, direct the issuance of any such process in any trial court without recourse to conciliation proceedings."

The court holds that the act does not contravene the constitutional guarantee of right of trial by jury, since the conciliator does not decide but aids in an attempt to settle a matter. It held that the act did not violate the constitutional provision relating to taking of property without due process of law. The contention of defendants that attorneys have a valid contract with the state to represent all litigants in courts of law was not upheld, the court deciding that the attorneys have no contract with the state but are merely licensed or granted a privilege.

The case attracted wide attention and the American Judicature Society joined in with Theodore Koffel and R. C. Morton, who attacked the validity of the law. It was defended by Zuger and Tillotson.

GREAT TEXTILE STRIKE ENDED

Walkout Is Called Off By Unions

Boston, Nov. 27.—The return to work today of as many of the operatives of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company in Manchester, N. H., as could be accommodated marked the virtual end of the great textile strike in New England. The Amoskeag unions called off their strike yesterday.

Starting in Rhode Island in January, the strike—a month later had spread to all parts of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, affecting mills in all the leading textile centers except Fall River and New Bedford. In some places it was called as a protest against a wage reduction averaging 20 percent, in others against an extension of working hours from 48 to 54 a week and still others, including Manchester, against a combined wage reduction and lengthening of the working week.

In Rhode Island the strike was marked by serious disorders, resulting in some fatalities. Many mills were shut down for long periods and other were kept in partial operation.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ACTION IS WANTED
The request for employment by the city of an accountant to aid in the investigation of the rates of the Hughes Electric Company remains unanswered. Nor does the fact that the state railroad commission has engaged an accountant of its own, now engaged in other work, answer the demand. The case is one in which immediate action is demanded by the petitioners, and in which immediate action should be granted by the state railroad commission. It is the claim of petitioners that approximately $40,000 excess was collected for the year ending last June 1, and that the reports so far as they disclose the real facts, show that since the close of the period the same condition continues. If the petitioners must wait while the buck is being passed between various sets of officials, if they must see their case postponed and banded through the winter months they will not have a square deal. The city commission would establish no precedent. It already has hired an accountant to aid petitioners, in another case and paid him at the rate of $1,050 per month. If the rates are, as the petitioners contend, exorbitant to the extent of $40,000 a year, it would be real economy to ascertain the facts. In any event the petitioners ought to get what they demand—action before the long winter months have passed, when electric and steam rates are heaviest.

"THE TIGER'S" MISSION
The war-time premier of France, the fighting, inspiring and courageous Clemenceau, has received a welcome in American that has touched his heart. He has been greeted, justly, as a great hero of the World War. "The Tiger" has not mistaken this tribute to his greatness in France's hour of need for acquiescence in the aim of his visit to the United States. He came to win the hearts of Americans and to bring them into Europe to settle the deplorable conditions. He will find many who believe that the job was not finished, and that it was badly bungled after the firing of guns has ceased. Indeed, "The Tiger" must overcome a widely prevalent belief that he himself is much to blame for the muddled condition of European affairs. Always suspicious of the secret treaties and intense national selfishness manifested in Europe, America hesitates to entangle herself in European affairs. If the former premier can convince the American people that the aims of France in peace as are laudable as they were when America joined in the great conflict, he will have succeeded in his mission. But if the American people are left with the belief that it is vengeance and selfish gain that France and her neighbors seek in Europe the aid of America will be refused, and justly so.

CENSORSHIP REJECTED
The people of Massachusetts emphatically protested against the undue political aggression of a moving picture censorship in the recent election when they cast 545,919 votes against a referred act to 207,476 for it. It is a notable victory for those who resent the intrusion of a governmental board upon what they jealously consider their liberty of action. Governmental restrictions and representative legislation usually are accepted by the people only because they believe such action is necessary for the general welfare. Will H. Hays, the "czar of the movies," however, recognizes in the vote "a definite and unmistakable challenge to the motion picture industry to carry out its program for its own continual improvement in the full discharge of its duty to the public." The future of motion pictures lies with the producers and the question of censorship must be answered by them. Mr. Hays is a purposeful man with a definite program. Let us hope that fullest opportunity may be given to him and to his associates in the moving picture industry to place it on such a plane so no fair-minded man can urge the necessity of governmental interference in the business.

GOLF
A new grass, which gives golf balls a better bounce, is developed from "creeping bent" grass. The development is the work of Uncle Sam's Bureau of Plant Industry. This interests at least 10,000 times as many as care to hear about the discovery of a new star. Don't "pan" the human brain. We can't use stars. But we can use golf grass. People are interested in the things that affect them personally. That's why women read the ads first, unless a newspaper headline catches their eye.

ART
Geometric art, picturing things in straight lines and angles, appears in Paris. It's described as new, but the cubists had much the same thing years ago when Dr. Max Nordau wrote "Degeneration." Nature works in curves—horizon, sea-wave, star orbits. When an artist sees nature in straight lines and angles instead of graceful curves, he generally has an eye disease, usually nystagmus.

JOKE
Is Congress losing its standing in Wall Street?
A Wall Street newspaper opens a long story with this: "A member of the International Molders' Union of North America has represented for several years a district of California in Congress. This statement is not made with the intent to reflect on the Molders' Union," etc.

SLIPPING
Uncle Sam's income drops—steadily, alarmingly. Tax money received during September totaled only about $354,000,000, against $631,000,000 in September a year ago. The old line, "Give until it hurts," should be changed to "Save until it hurts," and pasted in every congressman's hat. More bond issues and a mounting of the national debt are inevitable unless economy is the first aim of Washington.

GOOD APPOINTMENT

THE WAR A FAILURE AS OLD STUFF

General McClellan in 1864 ran for president upon a platform that the war was a failure, and at one time in the campaign Lincoln is said to have been apprehensive for the result. There survived even after Appomattox a considerable sentiment for years that the war for the Union had been a mistake. It required time for the Democratic Party to shed that heresy. Now we regard the Civil War, the North's preexistence and victory in it, as the salvation of our nation, and the heroes of that conflict have been fairly deified in popular regard. They rank Lincoln with Washington, and the struggle between South and North is becoming our Trojan War, with Lee as the Hector and Grant as the Achilles of the great American epic. During the World War, there were traitors and complainers who aspersed our national motives in entering the War, or as frankly wished for Germany's success as did the Copperheads for the success of the Confederacy sixty years ago. Senator La Follette made his Saint Paul speech in the midst of the National armistice, and a Mayor defined his Chicago as the sixth German city of the world. Let us not rake over cold ashes. But there are those who seek to inject the War as an issue into day's politics, who declare our participation to have been a terrible and costly error, and who regret Germany's defeat accomplished by the United States. These speak not upon conviction so much as from a lively appreciation of the favor of the pro-German vote. If there is such a thing as a disloyal vote, such a thing is certain to stimulate today's politics to repudiation of today's Copperheads.

No candidate is going to win on the platform that the late War was a failure. It was instead a glorious success. It overthrew the bully of Europe, who had started in on trying to bully the United States. We vindicated our manhood in France, and in so forthright a fashion that, as Admiral Benson says, the United States will be let alone for thirty years to come. Also in that War we set our heel on all alienism here at home, as we set it in the Sixties did upon foreign. Alienism would be rampant here, right now, if the United States had not gone to war. We had to go to war in 1917, or to resign as a nation. Our determination was a success in every sense, upon the field of battle in France, upon the field of dissension here at home. The War cost us much. Even righteous wars are expensive. We are paying for it, not only in taxes, but also in unsettlement. But the victory abroad and here at home was worth the price to us, and will be even more worth while to our children. The latest challenges to our Nation's power and integrity have been thrashed to a frazzle over there and here at home have been effectively suppressed.

Talk of politicians, recriminations by pro-Germans, will not reverse the Argonne.—Minneapolis Journal.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts
Nancy and Nick knocked at Mrs. Squirrel's front door. "Look a day on us!" exclaimed that lady when she saw them. "I'm that glad to see you! My! May! It seems like old times. Do come in and tell me the news."

"We can't stay very long," said Nancy. "We brought you a package from the Green Wizard." Mrs. Squirrel gave a shriek of delight. "A package! Then he must have received my letter. I asked him for a magical dish-mop as I get so tired of doing dishes."

"That's just what it is," smiled Nancy, handing the squirrel lady the package. "The Green Wizard said to tell you that he hoped you would get a rest now and have more time for yourself."

When the Twins had gone, Mrs. Squirrel went back to her kitchen and began to use the magical mop on her breakfast dishes.

"This is certainly a wonderful help," she remarked, for scarcely did she touch a dish when it would be washed and dried and cover in its place in the little cupboard in an instant.

Said Mrs. Squirrel made acorn soup and chestnut croquettes and birch-bark buns and set them on the table.

She was hanging up a tiring-pon when she knocked the magical mop off its hook, quite by accident. It flew across the room and touched the soup tureen, then it bounded over to the croquette platter and lastly to the bun plate. Instantly the food disappeared, leaving the dishes clean. "Scamper!" said she when her son came in. "I want you to do an errand. Go over to the Green Wizard's house in the pine tree and take this package and tell him I've decided that honest work is better than all the magic in the world."

OASIS OR MIRAGE?

Triumphs of M. Jonquille.
by MELVILLE DAVISSON POST • 1922 NEA Service, Inc.
I advanced to meet the man with a sense of victory. The Service de la Surete had searched the world for him. He had been long concealed. But my sense of victory vanished when I saw him. He sat in a great chair on the long terrace that overlooked the sweep of lawn and the dark, rapid river. He had been, all the time, under our very noses. We had thought of every other place except an English country house within a jump of London. And he had been sitting here in every comfort that money could assemble. He did not rise when I was brought out to him. He leaned back in the chair, lifted his heavy face, and laughed. "And so, Monsieur Jonquille," he said, "you finally wormed it out of her."

I could not keep my voice level—so effectively was the man escaping us after all this search. And I did not know what the huge creature meant. On the night before, some one had called up the Service de la Surete and said our man was here. The long distance call from London would not be traced. London would not be traced. —to it had been a woman! I replied as though I were in his secret. "She knew you were safe." He laughed again. "Sure, she knew it!" He pointed to a chair a few feet beyond him across a table. "Sit down," he said. "I want to talk about her—that's the reason I wanted you to come." He laughed again. "You thought you'd sleuthed it out, eh? Not by a jugful. I sent her word to put you wise. I wanted to clear something up before she washed in. But it was a clean lie. What I wanted was somebody to listen while I talked about her. Sit down."

It was a strange introductory. But it was a mystery that had puzzled everybody, and I was willing to hear all that he had to say about it. I took the chair beyond him. He shot his head forward suddenly, in a tense gesture. "She's a heavenly angel!" he said. "I don't know what God Almighty meant by setting her in the same with the bunch of crooks that he's got running the world—surely. He counted on me." The laugh became a sort of chuckle in his big throat. "Ain't she a heavenly angel?"

He whipped a worn photograph out of his pocket and reached it across the table to me. It was the photograph of a girl with the face cut out. It had been taken from a painting, one could tell from the flat surface, and the strange background of beauty and an indescribable charm in the pose of the girl remained even in the mutilated picture.

"I put out the face," he added, "so she wouldn't come into the case if you caught me; your little Westridge must have been slaughtered at the loss of her."

Again he touched me at an unexpected point. Shortly after the thing, for which we were seeking the man before me, had, as the Americans say, "been pulled off." Lord Westridge returned to England. He had gone to visit some rich Americans, and there was a rumor that some adventure had befallen him.

Nothing definite ever came to me, and I liked the man too little to inquire; all the blood from the original Glasgow solicitor, as the British say, would "bite a shilling." But again I replied as though I were in his secret. "What happened to Westridge?" I said. The man twisted around in his chair.

"He kept slipping you the word, eh? Well, she blocked him at that, even if she didn't know it."

There came a sudden energy into his voice. "An' if the plague hadn't got me I'd saved her that trouble; I'd played ring-around-rosy with you."

He lifted himself in the chair with the strength of his hands on the broad arm-rests. And I realized more fully what a physical wreck he was, the lower part of his body was motionless.

"I want to tell you about this thing," he said. "And then you can go ahead with your warrant."

"I fear," I replied, "that a somewhat higher authority has got in before your King's writ."

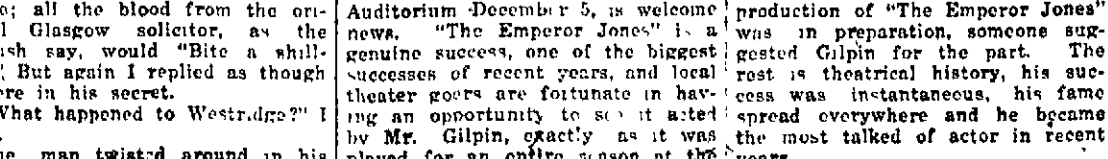

He chuckled as though the deadly fact were a sort of pleasantry. "Sure," he said, "the big Judge has beat you to it."

He looked out, a moment, at the woolly Highland cattle in the distant meadow, at the age-old beech-trees and the dark, swift, silent water, and then the upper part of his big body settled in the chair.

"I thought it was a slick trick, but maybe it was God Almighty. Anyway when the thing was pulled off I slid up to Bar Harbor and set down in a hotel. I figured it out like this—you look for a crook in the places that crooks go, and you look for a gentleman in the places where gentlemen go. I'll switch it."

I limped a little to show that I wasn't golf-fit and I didn't talk. I just sat about with the New York Times and the Financial Register and let the days pass. When there was doing in the hotel I was there in my all-right evening clothes, in a chair against the wall, and I limped along the sea-path in the afternoon for a little exercise."

After more than a year of reading in almost every magazine and metropolitan newspapers of the amazing performance of Charles S. Gilpin, the astonishing actor, in Eugene O'Neill's unusual drama, "The Emperor Jones," the announcement that Adolph Klumpp will offer this extraordinary attraction at the Auditorium-December 5, is welcome news. "The Emperor Jones" is a genuine success, one of the biggest successes of recent years, and local theater goers are fortunate in having an opportunity to see it acted by Mr. Gilpin, exactly as it was played for an entire season at the Princess Theatre, New York, and during its runs in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago. For twenty years Gilpin pursued a stage career in practical obscurity. Minstrel shows, musical comedy and stock companies were his only avenue of exploitation. In 1920 he attracted attention in the part of the slave in "Abraham Lincoln," and when the production of "The Emperor Jones" was in preparation, someone suggested Gilpin for the part. The rest is theatrical history, his success was instantaneous, his fame spread everywhere and he became the most talked of actor in recent years.

Tom Sims Says

"I looked some bored to keep the proper form. But I wasn't bored. I was seeing something new and I was getting more light on it all the time."

"I was seeing that this bunch was living up to a standard that nearly all the people I'd ever seen were only pretending. That was the difference, I soon figured it out."

He flung up his hand in a curious, expressive gesture. "I'm a crook, keep that in your head, and the thing was like a theater to me. I began to watch the actors; then I saw her and Westridge."

He moved in his chair. "She was there with an old, faded grandmother that read novels and smoked cigarettes—and was a lady. And right there is where this real bunch has got the goods! They don't let down because they do something that would make your cross your fingers on the other set."

He leaned back in the chair. "Well! I got to watching her and your Englishman. I watched them dancing in the hotel, and dining, and playing tennis at the Casino—I'd never seen any people like them."

"And pretty soon I got onto something; this Westridge gentleman was trying to buy the girl, but he didn't want to pay for her. He was putting out the bait, but he had a string on it."

"I got on to his dope. 'If he could dazzle her into marrying him she'd get her board and clothes. The real thing that was next to his hide was his money. 'All for me,' that was the notion."

He went on with no break in his words. "I got to thinking about it. This little Westridge was forty; he'd never change; and the girl was at the age when the things he was dangling were all mixed up with moonshine. He might win, and if he did she was headed for hell."

"I saw it all clean out to the end. He moved in the chair. 'I used to set about, and look at her, and it made me cold all over. The devil was on the job right here. Just as he was in the Tenderloin, he was working on a higher level, but it was only a different sort of road to his same old hell.'

"It would be a heavenly angel flung to a wolf no matter how you dressed the situation up; an' I said to myself, 'You can't beat him. The devil's got a set of traps for any kind of a layout!'"

Another installment of this unusual mystery story will appear in our next issue.

PEOPLE'S FORUM
WHAT IS SOCIALISM?
Kim, N. D., Nov. 25.—Editor Tribune:
Now that another political campaign is over, and O'Connor's 300 speeches failed to land him in office, might it not be possible that he devote sometime to gathering the remnants of the North Dakota Democratic party, from the political scrapheap, and try to ride into office on a political donkey of his own construction—rather than to ride to defeat on a borrowed hybrid—even though defeated, he would still have a donkey for future use.

And then? Right? It not also be possible that Frank, that throws out its pre-election smoke screen of Socialism, Bolshevism, I. W. Wism, and what not, will arrange for a study of some A. B. C. on Socialism, and prepare for the predicted deluge of revolutionary legislation, since such Socialists as Frazier, Wheeler, Shipstead, Brookhart, Ferris, Howell, Borah, Kendrick, Dill, Johnson, Ladd, et al., will line up with the Chief Comrade La Follette.

In the study there will be an array of statements which purport an economic outline of history—and there will be terms of "Economic determinism," "Class struggle," "Social revolution," "Evolution of Property," etc., and Capitalism will be blamed for it all—with no possible relief until the tentacles, Rent, Interest and Profit are eliminated.

Next, procure a 1912 Socialist platform, and if there is none to be had, Col. Roosevelt's 21-plank Bull-Moose platform of the same year, will answer; cross out the label, Progressive Republican; and then add 4,500,000 votes, which should make a grand total, equal to the heavy liquor of discontent—colored with various hues of redness, from the deep red of Anarchism, to the pale pink of the parlor Socialist. If taken straight, this will produce all the mental and physical tendencies necessary to smash, tear down, overturn the free institutions of Government, and pull down Old Glory, and hoist the red flag.

For those, hanging onto the "frazzled" edges of radicalism, it will be better to take something more mild as follows:

Federal ownership, consisting of one half Panama Canal, and one part Alaskan Railway, add to this a pinch of Bismarck Tribune's proposed City Ownership of Water Works, and while this ferments, apply to Mayor Leach of Minneapolis, for a supply of his Anti-Socialist remedy, and extract from this a portion of his proposed Municipal Ownership of High Dam—and add to the above until it shows Red.

If taken liberally—this should loosen the editorial tongue of the Press sufficiently to tell its readers before another election: why a State owned milk elevator bank, etc., with all the well developed appendages of Capitalism, "Rent-Interest-Profits" attached, is Socialism. Precisely so.

Instant Quaker Oats
Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Now Quaker Oats offer two great advantages over any other oats you can buy. First, a matchless flavor. They are flaked from queen grains only, so their flavor has won the world.

And now a quick-cooking style, perfected by our experts. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

Made of the same queen grains, but the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles. If you want Instant Quaker look for "Instant" on the label. You will get the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

SECOND WEEK OF SERVICES

Revival at Methodist Church Continues to Attract Many

(By J. K. Doran.)

The second week of the revival services at the Methodist church began yesterday with increased numbers in the audience and better singing and more eloquent and earnest preaching.

The main auditorium of the church would not hold the people Sunday evening so the Sunday school room had to be opened and was comfortably filled.

There were a number of notable events during the day but second only to the sermons was the singing. The morning solo, "Have You Forgotten God", was beyond doubt one of the greatest musical efforts ever heard in Bismarck whether in church service or grand opera. The solo in the evening, "God Is Calling", was equally impressive.

Services every night this week unless expect Saturday.

Glacier Park 5 Make Big Hit With Peppy Dance Music

The "Glacier Park Five" Orchestra from Glacier Park, Montana, played to a record crowd at the Coliseum Saturday night.

The dance was clean and orderly and reflects much credit on the management. While the orchestra displayed no artistic fireworks, such as many probably expected, their teamwork was excellent and the music decidedly snappy, with a dance swing which is often lacking even in more finished orchestras.

These boys played all season at Mike's Place at the east entrance of Glacier Park, where, if any visitors from Bismarck remember, cowboys danced in boots and spurs, and Blackfoot Indians danced their weird Owl Dance for the benefit of the tourists.

A pleasing feature of the dance was the singing of "Hank" Hammond. This lad has a way of putting over his songs in an entertaining manner and appears to be perfectly at home on a strange platform. He had sung in many of the cities on the west coast and during his period of nineteen months with the American Expeditionary Forces in Siberia his jazz songs brightened many an otherwise gloomy hour in that desolate country.

The management of the Coliseum is very fortunate in engaging "Hank" and the Glacier Park Orchestra for the winter.

Proposed law would keep children under 18 from working. That is one way to get them to work.

We desire to thank our many friends for their kindnesses shown during the illness and following the death of our baby girl, Alvina Louise. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bredy.

SPORTS
NOTRE DAME, NEBRASKA, TO MEET THURSDAY

Several New Conference
Teams Will See Action
On Gridiron

With the football in the Big Ten and the interest in Thanksgiving day, as far as the Middle West is concerned, the game between the teams of the Missouri Valley conference and the Notre Dame-Nbraska game is of national interest. The game is of local interest only.

Members of the North Central Intercollegiate are playing a large number of games on "Turkey day." Five games are scheduled in which members of the conference appear, three of these being games in which members of the conference seek to win honors in the organization's standing.

The game of the most interest is the meeting between South Dakota State and Creighton at Omaha. The game has a most important bearing upon the standing of Creighton while the Brookings team can make a failure of its season by losing. The Omaha team has played good football after a rather mediocre beginning, its one poor game being against Marquette. Comparative scores give the Dakota team the best of the contest.

The other conference games bring together the North Dakota Aggies and Morningside at Sioux City, and the Nebraska Wesleyan and Des Moines teams at Des Moines. The Morningside Maroons lost a one-sided game to S. D. State, but have tied Des Moines and Nebraska Wesleyan. Scores would indicate that the N. D. team would have the best of the Morningside tussle although the Fargo team has not been going well since its game with the university and Des Moines game looks even.

chine soon got into action after the first few minutes of play and the Turtle Lake team was unable to check it. Coleharbor is after the championship of McLean county and this makes their second game won this season.

Perpetuation
Of Hill Lines to Be Insisted Upon

St. Paul, Nov. 27.—Perpetuation of the union between the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and the Northern Pacific railroads in any consolidation to be made will be insisted upon by the Northern Pacific, it was emphasized in a statement here today by Charles Donnelly, president of the road.

The official disclosure of the position to be taken by the Northern Pacific was interpreted to be entirely to the testimony of President Ralph Budd of the Great Northern during the recent consolidation plan hearing before the interstate commerce commission in Washington.

Mr. Budd at the hearing advocated a union of the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and of the Great Northern and Burlington in the event that the proposed consolidation of the Great Northern, Burlington and Northern Pacific does not materialize.

President Donnelly's statement also is interpreted as confirmation of reports that a breach between the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern is threatened and that open warfare with the Burlington line as the big stake, will be waged if the three road consolidation plan is not approved.

COMMITTEE SUICIDE
(By the Associated Press)

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 27.—Anthony Mehre, 74, last night committed suicide by jumping into a cistern at his home here, members of the family told authorities. The dead man paced the floor of a room in his home all day Sunday and evidently was worried for some reason, Mrs.
Mehre said, but he told no one of his trouble. The body was found several hours after he disappeared. He left a wife, a son and a daughter.

St. Paul, Nov. 27.—The North Dakota Teachers' Association in closing sessions of its convention here late yesterday accepted recommendations of the constitutional and resolutions committee and made changes in the legislation as suggested and passed resolutions made public yesterday.

TEACHERS TO CHANGE NAME

Body to be Known as North Dakota Education Association

The changes in the constitution include changing the name of the organization to the North Dakota Education Association.
Officers were also chosen at recommended by the nominating committee.

The executive committee of the educational association will meet in Valley City on December 19, appoint standing committees, choose time and place for the 1923 meeting and make plans for it and choose a secretary.

SCHULTZ SAYS HE WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT IT

"Tanlac soon put me on the road to health and I never intend to be without it in the house," declared
Hugo Schultz, 1171 Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.
"For two years my stomach was all out of order. I suffered from indigestion and gas bloating and was in distress after every meal.
My appetite was poor, my liver was sluggish and my color was very sallow. Constipation caused me no end of trouble, my back hurt terribly in the region of my kidneys and I was so nervous and restless I couldn't half sleep.
"Five bottles of Tanlac fixed me up fine. I have a big appetite, everything agrees with me, and I am enjoying the very best of health.
Tanlac has done even more than was claimed for it in my case."
Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

of your Insurance Agent, too?

Few things are more vital to you than insurance. Insurance is the one big, all-important factor that guarantees to you that the prosperity you enjoy today will also be yours tomorrow.

Why not, then, consult your insurance agent in the same way in which you consult your doctor or lawyer?

Your insurance agent has made insurance his life work.
He knows insurance in all its departments and its forms.
He, alone, is capable of applying the best type of insurance to your individual needs.

Why not make it a rule to consult your insurance agent regularly? Surely it is worth while to devote to the preservation of your property a small part of the same energy and resourcefulness you displayed in acquiring it.
No business man or home owner can be expected to be expert in insurance matters.
Time does not permit detailed study of forms and insurance methods. You need the pro-

News of the Markets

WHEAT DOWN ON OPENING; MARKET WEAK

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Nov. 27.—Wheat showed a downward tendency today in the early dealings, enlarged domestic receipts and lower Liverpool quotations counting as bearish factors. Favorable weather conditions in this country were also an influence against the bulls. Besides, Argentine offerings to Europe were reported as increasing, and the Argentine harvest making good progress. The opening here which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 lower, with May $1.14 1/4 to $1.15 and July $1.06 1/4 to $1.07 1/4, was followed by a moderate additional sag, and then something of a rally.

Subsequently, indications of somewhat liberal export business lifted the market to slightly above Saturday's finish, but new declines ensued owing in some degree to an increase of the visible supply total and to sales of wheat to go into store here. The close was unsettled, 1/4 to 1/2 net lower, with May $1.13 1/4 to $1.13 3/4, and July $1.05 1/4 to $1.05 3/4.

Corn and oats sympathized with the weakness of wheat, but were relatively firmer. After opening unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 68 1/4 to 68 3/4, the corn market edged a little more and then recovered to about Saturday's finish.

Reports from the west as to cash demand were conflicting. The close was nervous at 1/4 to 1/2 net decline, to a shade advance, with May 63 1/4 to 63 3/4.

Oats started unchanged to 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May 41 1/4 to 42 and later recovered practically in full. Provisions were easy in line with hog prices.

NEWS OF WALL STREET
(By the Associated Press)
New York, Nov. 27.—Irregular price movements took place at the opening of today's stock market, good recovery being shown by some of the representative shares, which were under the most pressure in Saturday's reaction. A special buying demonstration took place in Piggly Wiggly, which was pushed up 4 1/2 points. Northern Pacific dropped 1 to a new low level for the year and losses of 1/4 to 1 point also took place in Atlantic Coast Line, Chicago and Northwestern and Chesapeake and Ohio. Other weak spots were New York Air Brake, National Lead, Crutcher, Pacific Gas, American Writing Paper, preferred, Royal Dutch, American Tobacco and Continental Can and Allied Chemical, the declines ranging from 1 to 3 points. Foreign exchange opened irregularly. The rally carried a number of important stock to levels from 1 to 1 1/2 points beyond Saturday's closing before battering tactics were resumed by the bears. Large amounts of stock were then thrown on the market driving down many of the favorite speculative shares to the lowest prices of the current movement.

Selling by speculative interests caused a general sagging in prices after early dealings. A brisk rally set in later, Mexican Petroleum rising 5 1/4, General Electric and Pan American 3 1/4 each, Standard Oil of New Jersey 2 1/4 and Baldwin, Studebaker and several other of the leaders 1 point or more. A lower rate for call money, which opened at 4 1/4 percent and then eased to 4 1/2 and a new high for sterling exchange, had a cheerful effect on sentiment.

The closing was steadier. Short covering with a gain undertaken in the final hour with rallies of 1 to 2 points in a number of shares, but closing prices generally were below those of Saturday.

Speculators for the decline forced further recession in prices in today's stock market, a number of re-

Billy Evans Says

Each year at the close of the football season the annual debate takes place as to which section is supreme on the gridiron.

In my opinion there is mighty little difference between the brand of football as played in the three sections. If there is a shade, it is my belief that it belongs to the west.

Had Chicago defeated Princeton, as it was hoped to, and ordinarily would, the west would be doing a lot of crowing about this time. It would have been possible to have doped the west far superior to the east had not Chicago failed.

Chicago crossed the Princeton goal line three times on straight football, John Thomas gaining through the Tiger line at will and scoring all three touchdowns. Neither Harvard nor Yale was able to cross the Princeton line.

Princeton scored three touchdowns on Chicago. One was the result of a Chicago fumble which was recovered by Gray, who ran 45 yards for a touchdown. The other two scores were the result of a series of forward passes and penalties.

The final Princeton touchdown was largely made possible by a rather fluky play. A long forward pass of about 35 yards was attempted. From the press box there seemed no chance that it would be successful as no Tiger player appeared close enough to make a play on the ball. A Chicago player, however, interfered with the receiver and Princeton got the distance and first down.

Don't get the impression I am trying to belittle the Princeton victory. I am simply trying to show the manner in which it all came about. Frankly I must admit I was rooting for the Tigers. I am strong for Bill Roper and always admired the Tigers spirit. But in all honesty I must admit Princeton was very, very lucky to win.

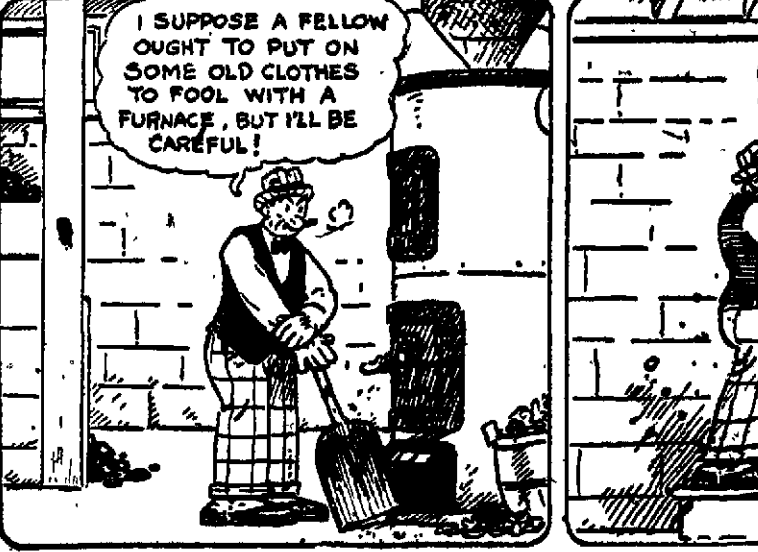

Both teams made three touchdowns, so that the margin of victory, three points, was made possible because the Tigers were able to control through field goals from scrimmage while Chicago failed.

Had Chicago defeated Princeton think of the bragging the west could have done. Princeton has since defeated Yale and Harvard. In addition, Iowa has beaten Yale. All of which would have made the sailing very rough for the east.

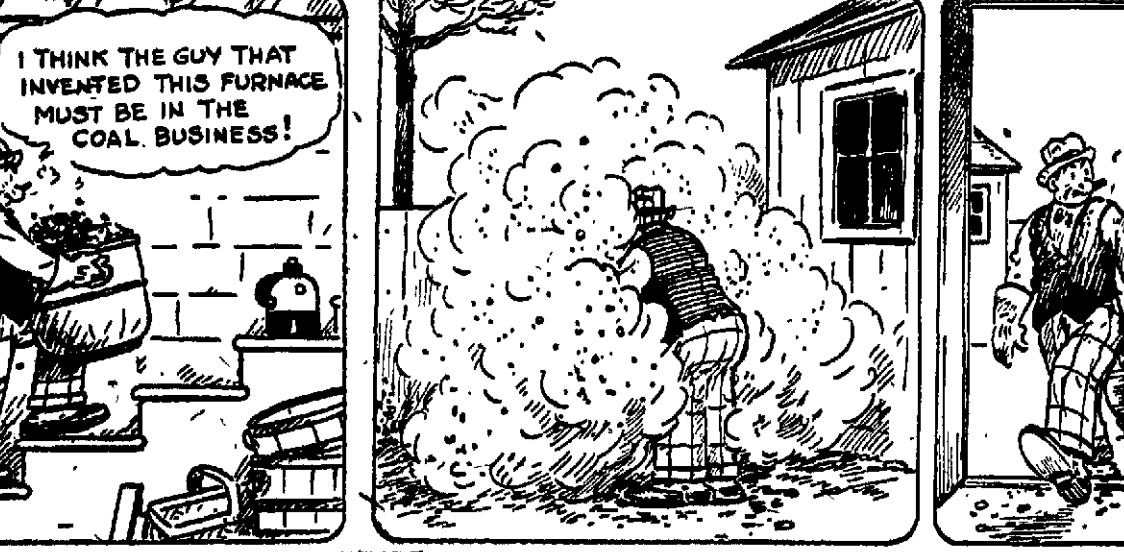

Princeton can certainly be thanked profusely by the east this year for saving the prestige of that section. Otherwise the effect east would have suffered badly in many a comparison that would have been drawn by some of the partisan western experts.

Strikes from Subsidy Bill
Section Permitting Sale
Without Bids

Washington, Nov. 27.—Without a record vote the house today eliminating from the administration shipping board to sell any vessels of the government merchant fleet without advertising for competitive bidding.
The first real test for the administration shipping bill was looked for during the day, with the measure laid before the house for amendment with prospects an avalanche of proposed changes would be offered and disposed of before the vote on final passage Wednesday night.
Republican leaders were confident the bill would go through not only by a safe margin but without material modification. Opponents of the legislation on the other hand asserted administration leaders would have to marshal their full strength to avoid defeat.
The rule permitting unlimited amendment under which the measure is to be considered for three days, beginning today, was made by the rules committee, according to the announcement of Chairman Campbell of the committee for the purpose of giving the house an opportunity to shape the kind of shipping bill it would be willing to pass and stand upon.

mounted police and who was subsequently committed to state prison on a charge of second degree forgery, escaped Saturday from the University of Minnesota hospital, where he had been confined for medical treatment. Beavis was convicted of the charge in the Hennepin county district court and committed March 10, last, under the name of Roy Venis. He was arrested in Wabasha on this charge, following an investigation of his records by Canadian and United States officials.

Beavis was taken from the prison August 17, and committed to the hospital where he was receiving treatment for mental disorders. His escape was discovered at 6:30 a. m. today and after tracking him to the river bank attendants found his abandoned bath robe and the usual hospital garb in which he was clothed.

Officials immediately began dragging the river, but state officials are of the opinion that a confederate furnished him other clothing.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The conduct of the Annapolis midshipmen at the Army and Navy football game in Philadelphia on Saturday was arraigned in a public statement today by Secretary Denby of the Navy department, declaring that members of the corps had brought disgrace not only on themselves but on the Naval academy.
"How many midshipmen drank heavily I do not know," said the secretary's statement. But he added that despite the good behavior of many, enough midshipmen had "failed to do their duty to their uniforms and to their country to bring shame upon all."
He announced that an investigation would be ordered.
